

Annual Report on Compliance with the Plain Writing Act of 2010
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC)
May 2023

Introduction

The Plain Writing Act of 2010 (the Act) requires federal agencies to prepare certain documents according to plain writing guidelines. These “covered documents” include documents relating to agency benefits and services, and compliance with agency law and regulations. They include both paper and electronic versions of documents such as letters, notices, publications, forms, and instructions. The Act also requires federal agencies to post Annual Compliance Reports on their public websites. Guidance on complying with the Act’s plain writing mandate is found in the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Memorandum M-11-15, Final Guidance on Implementing the Plain Writing Act of 2010 (published April 13, 2011). This is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation’s Annual Compliance Report for 2023.

Implementation of the Act

Recognizing that the Act creates a continuing obligation on covered agencies, FDIC officials have continued their focus on increasing and reinforcing employee awareness of the Act, and monitoring compliance with the Act.

Division and Office Compliance Coordinators and the FDIC’s Corporate University training staff encourage employees to complete the Plain Writing Online Training course and other related courses that emphasize plain writing principles. The FDIC also incorporates information regarding the Act and the associated training requirements into its new employee orientation process. As of March 2023, 8,865 courses were successfully completed. (See Attachment 1 for 2022-2023 Data on Completion of Plain Writing Training.)

On a periodic basis, the agency conducts a review of the most visited pages on FDIC’s public-facing website at <https://www.fdic.gov/> using plain writing principles to assess compliance with the Act. In May 2023, the FDIC completed its review and found three items requiring remediation. The FDIC will resolve those items in connection with scheduled releases of new data and web page updates.

The FDIC’s Office of Communications (OCOM) routinely engages with Divisions and Offices in advance of agency publications posted on FDIC.gov and significant communications to employees – consistent with the intent of the Act. Examples of these documents include press releases, financial education materials, banking industry research, and Congressional reports.

In April 2023, all FDIC Division and Office Directors, in consultation with their Compliance Coordinators and management teams, certified that, to the best of their knowledge, employees in their organizations comply with the Act. (See Attachment 2 – Certifications of Compliance with the Plain Writing Act of 2010, executed by Division and Office Directors.)

Summary

The FDIC continues to make a concerted effort to embrace both the spirit and the letter of the Act and to ensure that agency employees comply with and remain knowledgeable on the principles of the Act.
